

Inspiring students. And employers.

Look at the real-world success of our graduates. And open your mind to the possibilities of a creative education.

Turning creativity into a career.

At The Art Institutes, everything we do is designed to turn our students into graduates who are equipped with the hands-on learning, real-world skills, industry contacts, and self-marketing tools to compete and succeed in a world where creativity is the currency of the future.

Here, students are surrounded by others who share their unique way of looking at things. This is a truly supportive community focused on pushing ideas, thinking conceptually, and applying all that learning to projects that reflect the challenges of the real world.

Our employment stats are truly inspirational.

The Art Institute of Indianapolis is new to The Art Institutes system of schools, and no statistics are available. The statistics listed in the chart below reflect graduates from our main campus, The Art Institute of Las Vegas. Program offerings may vary between the two schools.

* Graduates available for employment excludes graduates who have waived employment assistance for one of the following reasons: medical condition that prevents full-time employment; active military duty; incarceration; death; non-immigrant status; or furthering education with minimum of 50% credit load.

Average salaries include, as applicable, annualized salary, overtime, payment for freelance assignments, hourly wages from multiple employments, and scheduled bonus payments. Graduates who have prior work experience and who are new to an employment field are included in the placement statistics. Data represents employment for January 1, 2007 – December 31, 2007 graduates, six months after graduation.

Employers see our grads as viable. And valuable.

With a system of over 40 schools throughout North America, The Art Institutes is able to help students connect with local and national employers who value — and often seek out — our talented graduates. A number of these employers offer internship opportunities that allow students to gain real-world experience while still in school.

Our programs in design, media arts, fashion, and culinary arts are led by experienced instructors, many of whom work in the fields in which they teach. Our strong relationships with area companies help us make sure that our programs accurately reflect the demands of the real world. Those relationships truly benefit both our graduates and employers who are looking for the specific skills we teach.

Additional information about graduate employment rates is available through our Career Services Department.
