

TRANSFERABILITY OF CREDITS

The New England Institute of Art is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) an accrediting agency recognized by the United States Department of Education, to confer the Bachelor of Science degree, and Associate in Science degree, and licensed by the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education. However, the fact that a school is licensed and accredited is not necessarily an indication that credits earned at that school will be accepted by another school. In the U.S. higher education system, transferability of credit is determined by the receiving institution taking into account such factors as course content, grades, accreditation and licensing.

The mission of The New England Institute of Art is to help you to prepare for entry-level employment in your chosen field of study. The value of degree programs like those offered by The New England Institute of Art is their deliberate focus on marketable skills. The credits earned are not intended as a stepping-stone for transfer to another institution. For this reason, it is unlikely that the academic credits you earn at The New England Institute of Art will transfer to another school.

Programs offered by one school within The Art Institutes system may be similar to but not identical to programs offered at another school within the system. This is due to differences imposed by state law, use of different instructional models, and local employer needs. Therefore, if you decide to transfer to another school within The Art Institutes system, not all of the credits you earn at The New England Institute of Art may be transferable into that school's program.

If you are considering transferring to either another school within the Art Institutes system or an unaffiliated school, it is your responsibility to determine whether that school will accept your New England Institute of Art credits. We encourage you to make this determination as early as possible. The New England Institute of Art does not imply, promise, or guarantee transferability of its credits to any other institution.

I have read, had an opportunity to ask questions about, and understand the above limitations on transfer of my academic credits earned at The New England Institute of Art.
