Winner of the Graphic Design USA American Package Award

“My goal is to become a package designer and to eventually be able to freelance and travel. The Art Institute was like a second home to me, the faculty felt more like friends or a family, which created the ideal atmosphere to learn and to achieve my goals. Because of the small class sizes I was able to bond with them and the other students in a way which was unlike a typical college experience. I got more out of The Art Institute of New York City than I ever expected to. It prepared me not just for a career in design, but also gave me many fond memories that I will always remember.”
