

MAKING THE MOST OF HIS EDUCATION

Video Production 2005 Graduate
Len Carter

While a student at The Art Institute of New York City, Len Carter founded and developed the Video Production Club, serving as its President until his graduation. Len served as a mentor to other club members, encouraging them to take responsibility for their education and their future. He also headed the club's Peer Mentoring Program.

Len's creations were featured in film festivals including the TriBeCa Film Festival for which he edited the Scholastic Media Kids Family Festival reel. He entered and won awards in The Art Institutes Film Festivals, the Dam Short Film Festival, and the Boulder and Phoenix Festivals. He scored in the first Alpha Channel Film Festival held at The Art Institute of New York City with his winning entry, "Say No to Drugs."

Len is a born entrepreneur. He founded his own communications company, Phoenix Entertainment & Media Communications and recently added a production division, !Frenzy Productions, working with two other successful graduates from the school. Recently, their work has been featured as original content in webisodes, reality television shows, and documentary series for clients such as MTV/MTV2, ABC, SPEED-TV, Ford Motor Company, Discovery & Sundance Channels, with many other exciting projects on the horizon.

The future is just beginning for this dynamic graduate.
