

Notice Concerning Transferability of Units and Degrees Earned at Our School

Credits you earn in our _____ program in most cases will probably not be transferable to any other college or university. For example, if you entered our school as a freshman, you will still be a freshman if you enter another college or university at some time in the future, even though you earned units here at our school. In addition, if you earn a degree, diploma, or certificate in our _____ program, in most cases it will probably not serve as a basis for obtaining a higher level degree at another college or university. This statement is provided in accordance with California Private Postsecondary and Vocational Education Reform Act § 94816 (b), January 1, 1998.

In the U.S. higher education system, transferability of credit is always determined by the receiving institution. It is your responsibility to confirm whether or not credits will be accepted by another school.

The mission of The Art Institute of California is to help you to prepare for entry-level employment in your chosen field of study. It is very unlikely that the academic credits you earn at The Art Institute of California will transfer to another school.

Programs offered by one school within The Art Institutes system will not be identical to similar programs at another school within the system due to differences imposed by state law, use of different instructional models, and local employer needs. Therefore, if you decide to transfer to another school within The Art Institutes system, not all of the credits you earn at The Art Institute of California may be transferable into that school's program. As soon as you anticipate transferring to another Art Institutes system school, you should consult with your Dean of Education.

The Art Institute of California does not imply, promise, or guarantee transferability of its credits to any other institution.

I have read, had an opportunity to ask questions about, and understand the above limitations on transfer on my academic credits earned at The Art Institute of California.
