

Adding Interior Design Creativity to Corporate Properties

What's Megan doing today?

Megan is working as a Junior Designer for Wells Fargo Corporate Properties. As Wells Fargo acquires and remodels new banks, she helps to choose fabrics and finishes, and prepares display boards for presentation. Megan uses AutoCAD in her work, inputting construction diagrams and blueprints, and updating project information. She also investigates product lines to determine pricing and availability, and coordinates purchase orders for the products.

Creative inspiration

Megan utilized her natural presentation skills and ability to handle criticism as she developed her interest in — and knowledge of — interior design. These attributes enabled her to push herself as she built her color theory and design skills while in school at The Art Institutes International Minnesota.

Getting out there

Through her Career Services Advisor at The Art Institutes International Minnesota, Megan learned of an opportunity at Wells Fargo Corporate Properties. She submitted her résumé and portfolio quickly, and interviewed soon thereafter. Only a few days after the interview, she was hired. She credits her education for the ease with which she was able to find a job in her field.

Megan Domres

The Art Institutes International Minnesota

Interior Design
Bachelor of Science, 2003

Employer: Wells Fargo Corporate Properties

Career: Interior Designer

“Hard work and determination in your job search is the most important thing you can do to be successful.”

— Megan Domres

